'It is a match made in musical heaven. Her ravishing voice paired with his keyboard mastery... A warm, heartfelt ode to love lost, found and unrequited'

Herald Sun

The symbiotic magnetism of two artistic sensibilities blended in perfection can be electric, elevating the individual from the prosaic into the sublime. Kate Ceberano needs no introduction, and Paul's credentials speak for themselves. To hear two of our most sensitive and enduring artists in the intimacy of a smaller acoustic like UKARIA is a revelation, an all too rare experience that renders the relationship between audience and performer almost tactile.
