Israeli-born singer/songwriter Lior became a prominent name among classical music circles after Compassion, his collaboration with composer Nigel Westlake, won Best Classical Album at the 2014 ARIA Awards. For everyone else, he is known for his 2005 debut album Autumn Flow, which became one of the most successful independent releases in Australian history. It's therefore not surprising that other notable artists are getting in the queue to work with him.

We are delighted to present Lior with Paul Grabowsky and cannot wait to discover what such a unique collaboration will bring.
